

Independent Living Experience

A unique opportunity for young adults with autism and/or intellectual disabilities to experience independence.

About the Experience

Glade Run Lutheran Services is offering an innovative opportunity for young adults with autism and/or intellectual disabilities to experience living away from home for six days. Young adults will gain confidence and understanding of their true abilities.

Participants will reside in Isaiah House located on Glade Run's campus in Zelienople, PA. During their stay, they will be engaged in a variety of lessons and activities designed to:

- increase social skills
- promote adult readiness
- build on employment skills
- encourage independence

Nightly group social activities will be based on individual interests and led by participants.

Glade Run staff will provide 24-hour supervision and support.

Program Eligibility

Glade Run's Independent Living Experience is designed for:

- individuals diagnosed with autism and/or an intellectual disability that are ages 18 to 30 years.
- individuals who have the ability to self-administer all medications
- individuals who have the ability to navigate the community with support at a 1:5 ratio
